NEWS AND COMMENTS.

As usual, the "cold winter" prophet is "standing on the burning deck," proclaiming blizzards and the "coldest weather in the recollection of the oldest inhabitant" for the approaching winter. Fire! fire! murder! police! rats!

FORESHADOWING his doom and the awful fate awaiting him, McDOUGALD, the murderer, now confined in jail at Lumberton, has transformed himself from a "hail fellow well met," into a state of melancholy, evidently realizing that he bears the stain of an uncle's blood on his hands, and for which he will very likely be made pay the full penalty for such a crime.

THOUSANDS and tens of thousands of anxious hearts all over North Carolina are throbbing within and beating a responsive echo to every missel of news that looks favorable to the speedy recovery of Hon. G. W. SANDERLIN, from his recent injuries sustained by the Bostian's Creek disaster. Within the past few days, however, his condition is said to have somewhat retrograded, and he will not likely be able to walk to his office for a month or six weeks at best. In the meantime we fervently trust that a kind Providence will abundantly supply every remedy for his early restoration to his former good health.

IF MARION BUTLER'S oral representations to a Raleigh newspaper man counts for anything, he does not worship at the shrine of SIMPSON, PFEFFER & Co., politically speaking, and the new "People's Party" will find "cold comfort" in the household of the President of the State Farmers' Alliance of North Carolina. Like all others who are in the Alliance for the good it can and will do the farmers, Mr. BUTLER thinks redress for the wrongs and evils of which the farmers complain can best be secured through and by the success of the Democratic party, and the triumph of the principles as enunciated in its platform. Sensible.

VERILY "de sun do move." "I expect to hear from the chief of the Weather Departpartment in a few days in regard to the order for announcing the forecasts by whistles," said Sergeant CUTHBERTSON. "I think it a good idea. If the order is issued we will furnish the railroads with the local and main department forecast and each train as it passes through the surrounding country can spread the knowledge by means of a code of signal whistles." What a grand and glorious country we are destined to have! It is evidently only a question of time when producing rain by artificial means will be a success. Possibly EDWARD BELLAMY, in his "Looking Backward," may give us the next glance into the fathomless depths of the unseen future.

"THE assaults upon unprotected white women and girls by brutal negroes were alarmingly frequent within the last ten days. As many as half dozen have been reported from sections of the South. Two of these in North Carolina, one of which occurred in Mecklenburg county recently. These rascals are always despatched as soon as caught, but they ought to be killed by the severest torture." For an infuriated mob to take the law in their own hands is a dangerous precedent, to be sure; but for the burly and lusty brute who outrages or attempts to outrage a lady, no questions should be asked, once his guilt is established; but like the people of Sampson, press into service the virtues of a plow-line and make sure of the job with a few buckshot, and there will be a perceptible abatement of such depredations.

"IT is the fashion to speak of 'old field schools' with something of contempt. But these humble institutions did, in their day, a most valuable service to the country. Many of them were presided over by men who had not drunk very deeply at the Pierian Springs. They knew nothing of the methods of teaching now gained from our normal schools. But there were others who imparted to their pupils a mental training which fitted them for winning and adorning the highest positions. We do not know indeed that the superiority of many of the institutions of this day over schools of humbler pretentions is not more fancied than real. Every innovation is not an improvement." By no means; and to the "old field school house," with its rugged walls, quaint and primitive architecture—around which clusters cherished memories of the hallowed past—possibly we are indebted more for the men whose giant intellects have left their foot prints on the sands of time, as well as the impress of their genius upon the institutions of our country, than brown-stone fronts or gilded walls.

ALREADY the victims and converts of SIMPSON, PFEFFER and old Mrs. LEASE, of Kansas, the poor, unsuspecting farmers of the Southern States, are beginning to taste the bitter fruits of the Kansas emissaries' visit southward—where these howling demagogues have preached the new People's Party, social equality of the races, hatred for the Democratic party, and sown the seeds of discord on every hand—in the shape of a general strike of the cotton pickers for one dollar per hundred pounds, a demand to which the farmers of this country cannot accede and live. How forcibly we are here reminded that "that which ye soweth, that shall ye also reap." In one breath the farmers of Georgia paid the traveling expenses of this sickening trio during their canvass of that State, while in the other, they rejected a Home for the aged and disabled Confederate soldiers who lost their limbs and gave their all in defense of helpless women and crying blue-eyed children, against the invasion of SIMPSON and his marauders twenty-five years ago. We ask in all seriousness and candor is it not time for the farmers to open their eyes.

A Short Address to Young Men.

Jas. Atkins in Nashville Advocate.]

The time has come when young men must be educated or fall into the rear rank. Every one must choose his own position in life. This he does whenever he settles the question as to whether he will be an educated or an uneducated man. There is no avocation or calling, from the life of the farm to that of the learned professions, in which good education is not necessary to the highest success. The young man, no matter what his abilities are, who goes into business life without a well-trained and well-stored mind goes into it only half made up. You know men who have been successful and somewhat influential without being educated in the schools. True; but numbers of men of this class have said to me: "The greatest mistake of my life has been that I did not become thoroughly educated before entering upon business life. I have made money and won what men call success, but I am not mentally equipped for the circles and opportunities to which my money and labor have brought me. It is now too late, but I would give thousands if I could undo this fatal error."

You will also observe that these men are the most determined that their children shall be thoroughly educated. They do not want their sons to repeat their folly or inherit their misfortunes.

In the main, boys have much more to do in determining this matter than they think. Almost every father will be found willing to educate his son, even with great labor and sacrifice to himself, provided the boy shows a proper ambition to rise above the common level, and exhibit a praiseworthy diligence in the use of the opportunities which his father provides for him. You may not have thought of it, but it is really a great affliction for parents to have sons who are without an ambition to be something in the world; who will not, when in school, at home or abroad, study and strive to excel; who are content to be nothing, or next to nothing. Are you willing to be one of these? The world shall have your answer a little later in life.

There is in this day and in this land no excuse for one who fails to become educated. Any young man with a good mind and good health can educate himself, and thus become fitted for a grand and useful life, if he so makes up his mind and heart.

At least two men, in the history of our nation, have, in the face of greater difficulties than those which confront you, arisen to the Presidency of the United States. Thousands in other spheres have done as well as these. They have overcome the same difficulties, and have arisen to places of great usefulness and honor in the less public places of life. You can do the same.

Many of our brightest and best boys and young men are being ruined by going too early into what is called business. They, and sometimes their parents, feel complimented that they are called at the age of 15 or 16 years to take places of responsibility in the store, the shop, the office; but when you reflect that he who is a bright office-boy at 15 is more than likely to be only an office-boy at 50, the compliment vanishes and the serious results begin to appear. This is true, because, as a rule, young men must be educated at from 15 to 21 years of age. Any engagement in business takes away a taste for the drill work necessay to a thorough education. The right time for this educating process having passed, it can never be recalled; and thus the young man, by one fatal mistake, has bound his life to this lower plane.

☞"And so you think she no longer loves you?" "I know it. She used to let me help her on with her ten-button gloves, and lately she has worn nothing but the one-button kind. Oh, I can take a hint." —St. Joseph News.

Vance will get even with Him or Her.

"At the last sesion of Congress I played it very low down on my friend, Senator Vance of North Carolina," said T. F. Kennedy, Canadian Pacific Agent to a reporter for the St. Louis Globe Democrat. "A rather pretty girl, with whom I had a slight acquaintance, asked me for a letter to the Agricultural Department people, recomending her for a place in the seed-distribution rooms. I went to Vance and he growled "No sir, I'll recommend no woman for a place." I argued and pleaded with him, finally saying: "But Senator, this is a very deserving woman. She is a very deserving woman. She is old and unfitted for the struggle for existence. Her husband served in my command in the war, and he was a splendid soldier. He died on the field and left his wife penniless. Do a good deed; help this poor widow." Vance's hard heart was melted. "By George, Kennedy, I'll do if that's the kind of woman she is." The letter was written and the girl got the job. Some months after this I was sitting with Vance on a steamboat when up walked this blooming damsel—she was about 19—whith a 'how are you, captain?' to me. She recognized Vance and addressed him saying she had long desired to thank him for his great kindness, telling him her name and how his letter had secured her a sinecure. Vance looked at me as much as to say, 'you just wait,' and accepted the person's thanks and languishing glance very quitely. When she had gone Vance turned to me and remarked mournfully: 'Kennedy you are the biggest liar and mosts tupendous fraud on earth. I'll pay you for this if I have to wait forty years."

The Angel of the Siege

Our Dumb Aminals.]

In the Franco-Prussian War there were scarcely any pigeons to be used for communicating with the unfortunate Parisians. Fifty-seven birds were taken out of Paris by balloons, and they carried many messages from the out-side world to the besieged. One of these birds escaped the crack shots of the German army six times, and was known as "the angle of the siege."

To enable the birds to carry so great a number of messages photography was called in, and by using films it was possible for one bird to carry a hundred communiections in a single quill. Thus was the "Times, a well-known English newspaper, reduced to a microscopic form and on its arrival in the besieged city it was enlarged and eagerly scanned by anxious crowds.

The military pigeons lofts of France are selected from renowned strains, and tests and experiments are made with as much care as the trial of a new gun or torpedo. Official returns give about 250,000 as the number of pigeons available for the use of the French Government in case of war.

The Germans, after the war, decided to not only foster and increase the lofts insuring complete arrangements for every military establishment and district, but inducements were offered to private individuals throughout the country to rear and train the birds, in order that a reserve force should be kept ready in an emergency.

The Russians, who will not injure a pigeon because of religious sentiment connected with the Holy Ghost, having been made made manifest in the form of this bird, were quick to put themselves on an equality with their German neighbor. Italy followed suit, and, although in quite in different sense, the pigeon is held almost sacred in that country. In the future the pets of Venice and the general favorites of the sons of the sunny South are to be used for the purposes of war as well as peace.

Juan Fernandez Revived.

The Island of Juan Fernandez, on which was founded the story of Robinson Crusoe, is not now the forlorn place it was when Crusoe and his man "Friday" daily watched for a sail in the long ago, only to be disappointed. On the island nature has been lavish in supplying everything to sustain life without labor. There are about one hundred residents on Juan Fernandez—mostly the German and Chilian ranchmen and their families. For some years the island was leased to a rich cattle company, which has now as many as thirty thousand head of horned cattle, and twice as many sheep, grazing in the narrow valleys and on the green foothills.

The cottages of the colonists are mostly within sight of the landing, set in the midst of orchards on the side of a hill sloping down to the sea—and the oppressive silence of Selkirk's time has given place to the bleating and lowing of flocks and herds, the merry shouts of children, and the sounds of human activity. Wild grape-vines and fig-trees, bearing excellent fruit, flourish on the slopes, and there are many natural orchards grown from seed planted a century ago by Selkirk and other mariners.

Besides peaches, apricots, pears, quinces and other fruits common to the Temperate Zone and to a south-temperate climate, the chufa is everywhere—a species of palm which produces a delicious fruit in the form of a large berry; and, among an endless variety of indegous trees, are the pimento, sandal, cork-wood and myrtly—the last in profusion.

A Beautiful Idea.

Our Dum Animals.]

Away among the Alleghaies there is a spring, so small that a single ox could drain it dry on a summer day. It steals its unobtrusive way among the hills till it spreads ont in the beautiful Ohio. Thence it stretches away a thousand miles, leaving on its banks more than a thousand villages and cities, and bearing on its bosom more than a half a thousand steam-boats. Then joining on the Mississippi, it stretches some twelve hundred miles more, till it falls into the great emblem of eternity. It is one of the great tributaries of the ocean which, obedient only to God, shall roll and roar until the angel, with one foot on the sea and the other on the land, shall lift up his hand to heaven and swear that time shall be no longer. So with moral influence. It is the rill, the rivulet, the ocean boundless and fathomless as eternity,

Christian Reid's Home.

C. F. King in Atlanta Journal.]

The most interesting spot I visited in Salisbury was the home of Christian Reid, the well-known novelist. It is an old-fashioned wooden house of brownish gray, with large columns in front. It is situated in a mass of dense shrubbery, old oaks, cedars and ivy, which time has left in memory of the many steps he has taken over the old place. The out-houses around seemed to me to be bidding each other good-bye ere they should fall to the earth to rise no more.

Christian Reid's real name is Miss C. F. Fisher. She is the daughter of Col. Chas. Fisher, a prominent North Carolinian, who was killed while gallantly leading a charge in the great battle of Manassas. The death of her beloved father cast such a shadow over Miss Fisher's life that she became somewhat of a recluse and devoted herself to her literary work, as well as that of her church. A zealous Catholic, she gave part of the lot on which her home stands to the church, and erected upon it a building for worship.

Her book, entitled "The Land of the Sky," was the making of Asheville, now such a popular resort.

For years Miss Fisher lived her solitary busy life, with a maiden aunt for companionship. About three or four years ago, however, at an age somewhere in the neighborhood of forty-five, she married a widower with one child—Professor J. M. Tiernan. She is now with her husband living in Guadalajara, Mexico, where he is largely engaged in mining.

I left the old Fisher homestead with regret that I could not see Christian Reid in her own quaint abode, and listen to stories from her lips about her life in the old place. For I am sure interesting facts and stories cluster in and about the old weather-beaten homestead as thickly as bees around the heart of a fragrant June rose.

Sister Margaret—A Modern Heroine.

The latest heroine is Sister Margaret France, of St. Victor's Convent, near the city of Montreal, on Wednesday morning, July 8th, at which time the convent contained a large number of deaf-mute children as pupils; but seems to have had no fire escape, although the children were lodged on the sixth floor. At an hour in the morning when sleep is the soundest, Sister Margaret, in charge of the sixth floor dormitory, awoke to find the room on fire and the children flocking around her. The stairway was on fire, and the would-be rescuers who came from the neighborhood had no ladders. A worse outlook for successful escape could scarcely be imagined; yet this one woman saved the children and herself too.

She gathered them in the corner of the building farthest from that part in which the flames were raging, and, making a rope of bed clothing, lowered her charges, one by one, to the ground. She kept at her work for half an hour and until the last child was safely landed; then slipped down the rope herself, with her hands and arms blistered by the heat and the hair singed from her head, and when she reached the ground—fainted.

Look to the Beds.

Beware of the beds! There is a sanitary enthusiast at Huddersfield, England, who is warning the world of the frightful consequences of neglecting this maxim. It has been estimated, he says, that 20,000,000 beds are in use in this country, of which 10,000,000 have not been opened for ten years, and having during that time remained wholly unpuried. As this apostle of "bed room sanitation" puts it, "all sorts and conditions of people have used them.

Sometimes they have been beds of sickness; deathbeds a vast number of them have been; some many times. But as he mournfully observes, "as soon as vacated they are again ready to do their insidious work." Seriously, the common neglect of the duty of opening and cleansing the beds can hardly fail to be productive of disease. We might do worse in this regard than follow the practice on the Continent, where the bed-cleaner, with his two sticks for beating the contents of beds and mattresses, after exposing them to sun and air, is a regular spring visitor in all well regulated households.

A Romantic Marriage.

C. neord Standard.]

About one year ago Mr. Geo. D. Palmer, treasurer of Stanly county, was introduced by letter to a lady of Paducah, Ky. A correspondence followed. With proper credentials and certificates and the knowledge of mutual friends, the two were made to know each other quite well. They began admiring each other. Last week Mr. Palmer left for Kentucky to visit the young lady whom he had become engaged to.

Wednesday night, Mr. and Mrs. Palmer came down the Western road. They are now in Albemarle receiving the congratulations of Treasurer Palmer's friends.

This is a surprise to Mr. Palmer's friends, as they knew nothing of the treasurer's desires to marry, but that's all right.

Mr. Palmer is an excellent gentleman, and is also a merchant.

"The Observer" is the second oldest paper in the State; is read by nine-tenths of the reading people of Cumberland, and circulates extensively throughout the counties of Robeson, Richmond, Moore, Harnett, Bladen, Columbus, New Hanover, Pender, Duplin, Sampson, Johnston, Anson, Chatham Montgomery and Stanly, and Marion and Marlboro counties, S. Improvements.

"HOLD ROBESON, AND SAVE THE STATE."

For distinction only we use the words Democratic and Alliance elements. Both of these elements constitute the Democratic party. In one there are a great many Democrats who have joined the Alliance, but who still adhere to their Democratic faith. In both there are extreme men.

In the Alliance there are some white Republicans, and it is these white Republicans, co-operating with some other members of the order, who are the cause of the seeming dissensions between the two elements named.

This should not be the case. There are conservative men in the Alliance who are not willing to become a party to the contemplated purpose of an extreme faction to rule or ruin.

These conservative Alliancemen will soon, we hope, feel it incumbent upon them to promptly arrest the progress of an agency that is likely to produce discord where all should be harmony.

Passing events plainly point to the existence of such an agency, composed, as stated, of Republicans and extreme members of the Alliance.

Republicans should not be allowed to influence the political policy of any association of men. Especially will it be their aim to bring into antagonism the two elements into which we have divided the Democratic party. Such is their aim. Some of them joined the Alliance with no other.

We do not disguise from ourselves that there are intemperate men in the Democratic party. These, too, must be kept in check, and, it may be stated, will be.

And now let the conservative men of both elements step to the front, call a halt, and, by mutual concessions, remove every semblance of discord.—Raleigh News and Observer.

To the above we most heartily subscribe. The sentiment and tone is in keeping with, and identical to, the teachings of the THE OBSERVER, and the course we have pursued from the beginning, and outlines the policy by which we will be governed in the fight, in season and out, for the continued success of the Democratic party and the triumph of those principles which vouchsafe to us the perpetuity of the institutions of the land, and a government "of the people, for the people and by the people," in truth as well as in name.

Pledged by every platform in the State and national conventions, for nearly a quarter of a century, to financial and tariff reform, the Democratic party once in power at the Federal capital, will not be slow to carry out in good faith every pledge, and fulfill to the letter every promise made to the people. For the burdens and hardships complained of to-day we are directly indebted to the Republican party, the success of which in the future only lies in a split in the Democratic ranks. That then, there are in the Alliance Republicans cooperating with other members of the order ostensibly for the purpose of encouraging dissensions among and weakening the faith of Democrats, is so apparent that even he who runs may read. We are, moreover, content to believe that some have joined the Alliance for no other purpose. Of such, gentlemen, we warn you in time to steer clear. Touch not the hem of their garments, for it will be a sad experience when you become beguiled and led astray by the sophistries of such arch enemies of the South as Jerre Simpson and his "jayhawkers" from far-away Kansas, who came all the way down here to preach social equality and intermarriage of the races, and all sorts of devilment to poison the minds of our people.

We are willing, and desire, that you be your own judges; but in all seriousness and earnestness, and with a heart full of sympathy for your woes and a willingness to give you aid and success in securing redress from your wrongs, we counsel you to exercise wisdom, prudence and care, and in your deliberations be conservative, temperate and fair. This done, and we will "hold Robeson and save the State."

ISSUES OF THE DAY.

"Gov. Campbell, of Ohio, occupies a most interesting position in politics at this time, because either his defeat or his success will most certainly have an effect on national politics. His election will make the free coinage of silver the leading issue in the national campaign, and practically set aside Cleveland; and his defeat will make the silver question of secondary importance, for the reason that the battle in Ohio is over free silver instead of the McKinley law, which McKinley is glad to avoid." We are for free silver; but it is just as essential that tariff reform should precede free silver as summer should precede autumn. Batter down McKinley's Chinese wall around the United States, and let us buy and sell in the open markets of the world; and the demand for American products and cereals will increase and grow at such a rate that free coinage of the precious metals will come from force of circumstances. Until then we are not so sure but that an inflation of the currency will tend to lower the price of cotton. Hence the importance of freer trade relations with the other nations of the world.

Exciting developments in the Park Place disaster reached high-water mark last week when Fry, a very important witness, testified that the disaster and collapse of the building was the foul work of Platt, the owner, primarily for the purpose of securing insurance money. At this point denunciatoty threats filled the air in the court-room, where the coroner's jury was in session, and if other evidence can be produced to corroborate Fry's testimony, it will, in all probability, be unhealthy for Platt to spend his leisure hours in that vicinity.

Certainly there is nothing small about the Chicago Odd Fellows. They purpose the erection, at once, of a building 556 feet high, in the form of a cross, with four wings, twenty-two stories high, the central structure to be thirty-four stories. This modest little air-castle is only to cost the trifling sum of four millions of dollars, in which one thousand bnsiness offices are to be elegantly fitted up and ready for use by the World's Fair.

"When Superintendent Humphrey's 600,000 colored cotton-pickers get hungry, what then?" Why, somebody's chickens will roost lower, and the world will wag along just the same.

Which was Living?—Both under Providence.

Large as the world is, it is too small for living bustling men, going from, place to place, to meet each other; and sometimes, when one thinks death has made capture of his comrade, they meet like "pale shades on the highway of life"—as witness the following from the Messenger:

Capt. J. M. Wright, of Fayetteville, now in the employment of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, and an old engineer, had a peculiar rencountre a day or two since.

Some fifteen years ago he was engineer on the Wilmington & Weldon Railroad, and his fireman was a colored man by the name of Robert Roan. Passing along the street, the eyes of Capt. Wright fell upon the face and form of Roan. Each gazed upon the other for a few moments, and the recognition was mutual, though they had not met in fifteen years. Each said, "I thought you were dead!,'

The captain explained by relating the circumstances of their parting. A collision was imminent between Captain Wright's engine and another rapidly approaching. The fireman asked him three times: "Cap'n is yer gwine ter stay on her?" The captain each time answered that he was. Then the fireman jumped off, the engine running at a high rate of speed. The captain held his ground and was only shaken up. The fireman, whom the captain thought killed, said "he lit er runnin' an' jined de bird tribe, an' was half er mile off when de injuns clashed."

Duplin Notes.

KENANSVILLE, N. C., Sept. 12, 1891.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—For half a century, probably, capitalists, townsmen and countrymen have been discussing the possibility and the probability of a railroad for Kenansville; but it has been left to the juveniles of '91 to solve the problem.

New and handsome furniture has arrived for furnishing Mr. Edward A. Farrior's new and attractive residence, and this evening Mr. Farrior left for Whiteville, N. C., presumably on business (?), connected with the new home.

Services this week in the Baptist Church have been conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Crocker. Mr. Crocker has resigned his pastorate, and purposes spending a year in the Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky. His preaching is plain, practical and pointed, and he is thoroughly consecrated to his work.

Capt. W. S. Kenan spent Saturday and Sunday with us.

Mr. David Miller, of Washington, D. C., spent a day and night with his uncle, Mr. R. W. Millard.

Rev. T. P. Rieaud has purchased the house and lot of the late T. S. Watson, and expects to move into it the 1st of January next.

Mrs. A. T. Stanford left to-day to visit her daughter in Wilson.

Mrs. W. H. Gilbert has returned to Wilmington, after spending some time with her father, Mr. R. W. Millard.

Mrs. Jusley and three boys, of Darien, Ga., visited Mrs. A. D. Black and Mrs. Dr. Matthews.

Miss Hattie Cox has entered the Littleton Female Institute.

Miss Mary Watson left to-day to visit her brother in Wilmington.

Miss Julia Herring has accepted a position in the Richlands School.

Mrs. Sue McArthur and her little granddaughter, Eleanor Wallace, are visiting relatives in Sampson county.

Miss Annie Broadhurst is teaching at Bowden station.

Misses Josephine, Cassey and Sallie Ward paid a short visit this week to Mayor and Mrs. A. D. Ward.

A young negro named William Davis, raised near Rockingham, N. C., has been lodged in jail, charged with breaking into the house of Mr. W. J. Boney, of Duplin Roads.

Manchester Cullings.

Having been culled into the waste basket several times is why we have remained at home so long, for we "never say die." Up our way, at least, we keep trying to live.

Pleasure is on a hunt this week, and has many followers. Eight splendid horses are part of the gay cavalcade.

The freight Monday, Capt. Pemberton, conductor, brought the fox hunters from Greensboro, and hearsay informs us that Fayetteville, Raleigh and Asheville sportsmen will join them at once. Car-load of dogs and waiting boys join in the chorus.

Six new stalls down at "Phillipi" echo wide-awake night and day.

Many of the old hands at the S. L. Co.'s mill have found employment loading cars, with lumber now in demand, but the mill still lies idle, much to our regret. It is said it must hum soon.

Manchester mills has such a capable proprietor—no wonder that success is in the atmosphere.

Drummers on the street; depot full of freight; cars full of flour; mill full of contented, competent hands; and we hope pockets full of money somewhere for the owner—the liveliest business man in our country.

Bountiful harvest everywhere; pulling fodder and cutting hay while sun shines.

Mrs. Grace McRae organized a missionary society for us, called the "Catharine Murchison Society," for a noble lady who has so many worthy descendants.

Murchison Fairley is teaching a private school. Watson Fairley has gone to Davidson College. We miss his bright face. To know him is to love him. Miss Janie McDiarmid has returned from a lengthy visit to Mrs. K. M. Ferguson, at Cameron. James McD. is a rising young man at Faison, N. C.

Mrs. C. W. Huske, little Alice and Miss Sue Haigh were the guests of Mrs. A. K. McDiarmid last week.

Miss Kate Elliot has decided to spend the fall with her brother's family at Holly Hill.

Mr. W. J. McDiarmid was cordially welcomed by his many friends here last week.

Miss Katie Fairley made a pleasant stay with friends in Laurinburg.

Mrs. J. E. Elliott has returned from a visit to Wilmington. Of course Alice Lee and Jean, and the wee tots, went too.

Could tell you lots of other things, but know you are frowning, and the waste basket cannot hold any more.

BONNE AMIE.

A Negro Skinned Alive.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 11—A special despatch from Shreveport, La., says a most heinous outrage was committed on the person of a young lady school teacher near Arcadia. While returning to her home the other day, she was seized by a negro on a lonely portion of the road and dragged to the woods. The brute tied her to a tree where he kept her for ten days, when she was finally found by searching parties. She told her story, and requested to hide, as the negro would return. This they did, and in due course of time the negro made his appearance and was captured. He was then fearfully tortured, skinned alive and literally cut to pieces, limb at a time, and left in the woods to be devoured by vultures.

Cotton Pickers Stop Work.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 14.—The President of the colored Alliance in Florence county says Humphrey's circular has been received and distributed to his alliance, and that the members thereof struck on Saturday last for one dollar per hundred.

The Boston Advertizer declares that even if the price of cotton should fail to advance with that of other farm products, it is believed that the Southern farmers will find themselves in a more prosperous condition at the end of the present season than for many years past.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of Cross Creek Lodge, No. 4, I. O. O. F., held September 14th, 1891, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS: Our Heavenly Father, in His allwise providence, has seen fit to remove from us our brother E. M. RADFORD, of Smithfield, N. C., who in the midst of a useful and vigorous young manhood has been stricken down by the angel reaper;

1. Resolved, That in the death of Brother Radford, this Lodge has lost one of its most valued members, who, though young in the cause of Odd Fellowship, had greatly endeared himself to us by his manly bearing, his faithfulness in the discharge of every duty and his devotion to every interest looking to the advancement of our noble order.

2. Resolved, That while we mourn the loss of our brother, we bow in humble submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well; and that we tender the family of our deceased brother our sincere and heartfelt condolence in this their sore bereavement.

3. Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon our minutes, and a copy of the same be transmitted to the family of the deceased and a copy be furnished the Fayetteville OBSERVER for publication.

4. Resolved, That, as a mark of respect to the memory of our brother, we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days.

Behind the Scenes.

On the stage the tinsel, the glitter, the powder and the paint, show forth the most, but step behind the scenes, and you will behold the truth. The chorus girls are not all "fancy paints them," but rather what they paint themselves; just so with many of the flaming advertisements of so-called "catarrh cures." Get back of the scenes, and they are not cures. The real one, and the only remedy that is a cure, is Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Lift the curtain, and you will find the naked truth to be, that this Remedy is the one that cures the worst cases of Catarrh in the Head, and no mistake. It is also a remedy in all catarrhal conditions, such as Catarrhal Headache, Catarrah of the Throat, etc.

John Quickly Extemporized Five Tow Bags.

This is a meaningless sentence, but it contains all the letters of our alphabet. Five of these letters spell "woman," and large numbers of women believe in the virtues of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a strictly vegetable compound, for her use only, and an unfailing cure for the many ills that beset her. It recuperates wasted strength, restores the functions to a normal condition, and fits her to bear and rear healthy offspring; promotes digestion, purifies the blood, and gives activity to the bowels and kidneys. In a word, it is woman's cure and safeguard. Guaranteed to give satisfaction, or its price ($1.00) refunded.

You cannot be too particular about the medicines you use. When you need a blood-purifier, be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and no other. It will mingle with, purify and vitalize every drop of blood in your body It makes the weak strong.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

OPEN LETTER
No. 8.

To the Citizens of Fayetteville and Surrounding Country.

From the reliability and popularity of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee, I respectfully ask your attention to the following letters of endorsement by parties who have tested this time-tried Company:

J. H. McADEN, Pres't. J. R. HOLLAND, Cashier.
C. N. G. BUTT, Ass't Cashier.
MERCHANTS' AND FARMERS' NATIONAL BANK.
No. 1781.
CHARLOTTE, N, C., April 24, 1890.

I regard the Northwestern Mutual as one of the best companies in existence. I think it without exception one of the soundest organizations and the best for the policy-holder. I now hold three policies in this company, and would not change them for any other. My dividends are much larger than in any other companies in which I carry life insurance, and my insurance as safe in this as any other. The affairs of the company are safely and conservatively managed; they pay promptly and are exceedingly fair and liberal with their policy-holders. J. H. McADEN,
Pres. Farmers' & Merchants' Nat. Bank,
Charlotte, N. C.

OFFICE OF
PURCELL, LADD & CO.,
WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS.
Agency for Virginia Springs and Other Mineral Waters.
RICHMOND, Va., May 9th, 1890.

Messrs. John B. Cary & Son, Richmond, Va.:

GENTLEMEN:—I have three policies in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, aggregating $20,000 insurance; the first taken in 1884. I am entirely satisfied with the results, which have exceeded my expectations in regard to dividends. In comparing these with my dividends on policies in other companies, I have no hesitation in giving preference to the Northwestern. I believe it to be as safe and well-managed as any other company. Yours truly,
JNO. B. PURCELL,
Pres. Chamber Com. of Richmond.

NORFOLK, Va., May 7th, 1890.

D. Humphreys, Esq., Agent Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., Norfolk, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—You ask how I like my policies in the Northwestern Life Insurance Company. In reply I have to say that I carried one policy in that Company for eight years, and was so well pleased with it that I then took another policy for $10,000 on the twenty-year endowment plan in the same company, and that I would not exchange these policies (now covering upon my life for $20,000) for the policies of any other company I know of. I consider the company the best for the policyholders, and do not hesitate to commend it to my friends. Very respectfully,
N. BURRUSS.

Lynchburg, Va.
May 7th, 1890.

Col. John B. Cary, Richmond, Va.:

DEAR SIR:—I take pleasure in stating that I have successively taken in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company four policies aggregating $30,000, canceling $10,000 I had in other companies because results or dividends in your company were so much better.

It is needless to say that I consider the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company as standing very high and offering advantages superior to others, else I should not have given it this decided preference.
Very truly yours,
E. SCHAEFER.

Gen. W. G. Lewis' Surveying Boat Fired Into.

Raleigh News and Observer.]

A report reached here yesterday of further complications in the eastern oyster grounds, to the effect that the surveying boat of Gen. W. G. Lewis had been fired upon by Pamlico county oystermen. Gen. Lewis, who is the State Engineer, has been engaged in laying off grounds for parties wishing to enter and possess tracts of ten acres, which the law allows to every citizen who wishes to go and lay claim to that area. The natives would then be prevented from gathering oysters on such grounds without paying a toll or sharing the catch with the owner. They regard this as a hardship, having always had free range of the grounds. Various threats have been made and a few nights ago the surveying boat of Gen. Lews was fired upon and filled with bullet holes. It happened that all on board were down in the hold and no body was hurt. Gen. Lewis was not on board at the time. It is understood that two men have been arrested by the sheriff and bound over to court, but the parties who fired the shots have not been positively found out, and probably never will be. It is said that two hundred of the oystermen have banded together to hold their ground and are threatening to drive Gen. Lewis's boat away. The sheriff has not yet applied to the Governor for assistance. Gen. Lewis and other interested parties were in the city yesterday.

Weather Crop Bulletin.

The weather crop report for the week says there is a still further decrease in the percentage condition of the staple crops, although the weather has not been decidedly unfavorable during the past week. Very little rain has fallen, which was favorable for all kinds of farm work.

The condition of cotton is probably as low as it has been at any time this season. Shedding continues, and rust is doing considerable damage. Opening very slowly, and picking as yet only going on at a few places. Cotton is in best condition in the southern portion of the Central District, in Union, Richmond, Harnett and perhaps a few other counties, where its condition is reported as high as 95 per cent. An early frost would inflict serious injury to to the cotton crop.

Tobacco has been considerably damaged by previous rains, and is not curing so well; curings will be light. In many counties the crop is reported poor.

The corn crop has been the stand-by of the farmer this year. Seeding of oats and wheat is in progress. The present condition of crops is as follows:

Eastern District: cotton, 67; corn, 80; corn, 78.

Central District: cotton, 77; corn, 91; tobacco, 81.

Western District: cotton, 72; corn, 90; tobacco, 80.

For the State: cotton, 72; corn, 87; tobacco, 80.

Crops Along the W. & W. and C. C. Railroads.

Wilmington Messenger.]

Mr. Crews, the Messenger traveling solicitor, brings refreshing intelligence of the crops. He represents the corn as superb up along the Carolina Central, and the cotton is not complained of as one would expect from the quantity of rain that has fallen. The sweet potato crop is luxuriantly fine, and this and the corn, mean hog and hominy in abundance.

In the Edgecombe section he speaks in flattering terms of the tobacco now in full blast of curing; the corn is good, though the cotton has been injured to some extent by the heavy rains. On the whole, mother earth has responded liberally and smiled remuneratively when properly tickled, assiduously, with the implements of culture.

Another Wreck on the W. N. C. R. R.

SALISBURY, N. C., Sept., 12—A collision of two local freight trains occurred yesterday evening, on the Western North Carolina Railroad, between Ashville and Hot Springs. The accident happened at Olivet, a siding, six miles west of Asheville. The east bound local with right of main line, was standing on the track, when the west bound freight came rushing on and crushed into it. No one was seriously hurt. The wreck is being cleared away, and after 12 o'clock to-day trains will be running regularly.

"Two Souls With a Single Thought."

Robesonian.]

Col. Murdock McRae, of Raemont, in this county, left for Florida last Monday, accompanied by his son, Col. F. F. McRae. Of the particulars of this visit to the "Land of Flowers," our readers will learn next week. Col. McRae is one of our largest farmers and very best citizens, and, as he is a widower, some of our readers may guess the rest. We congratulate in advance the lady who will be his life-partner.

Border Exposition of the Carolinas.

Robesonian.]

The premium list of the second annual exhibition of the Border Exposition of the Carolinas, to be held at Maxton, Oct. 21—23, is now in the hands of the printers and will be ready for distribution next week. Col. E. F. MacRae, the very efficient Secretary, is doing all in his power to make the Fair a success and the premium list is a very attractive one.

D. A. McDougald, Again.

Raleigh Chronicle.]

D. A. McDougald, now confined in the jail of Robeson county, charged with the murder of his uncle, Simeon Conally, is said to have changed his demeanor of late. Deep melancholly seems to have succeeded the air of carelessness and indifference which, it is said, characterized his conduct when he was first brought back from Oregon. He seems now to realize that he is engaged in a struggle for life. He will be ably defended by Col. John D. Shaw and his son, John D. Shaw, Jr., of Rockingham; while the State will be represented by Solicitor Frank McNeill, assisted by Neill Archie McLean, of Lumberton, one of the most skillful and thoroughly equipped young lawyers of the State. The evidence is largely circumstantial, and the defense will, no doubt, undertake to prove an alibi. The Wilmington Star says both sides will fight desperately, the one for life, the other to avenge the death of an old and honored citizen.

☞ The slate roof is being put on the new Presbyterian Church at Greensboro, the Record says, and the handsome spire is rapidly ascending. The beautiful architectural proportions are becoming more apparent every day.

NOTICE.

I WISH TO CALL THE ATTENTION OF the people of this section to the fact that my mammoth Gin House will soon be completed, and will be equipped with the best 60-saw gin made; also feeder and condenser. The house is beautifully located on my farm, one-fourth of a mile north of Lee's Cross Roads—almost direct between here and Dunn, a fine cotton market. I will be able to gin your cotton in a few weeks, and you can take it on to town, and I will pay market price for your seed. I very kindly ask the people to give me their first bale, and should they not be satisfied I ask no more. I will gin for the 25th, and give your cotton every care in my power. My house will be well arranged for caring for several bales at once. Satisfaction guaranteed. I am yours very truly,

TOWN AND COUNTY.

Coming in Slowly.

New cotton continues to come in, but rather slowly. The prices remain low, 7½ to 8 cents being the ruling figures for middling and low middling.

Sherwood Church.

We are authorized to give notice that Rev. Dr. H. G. Hill will preach at Sherwood Presbyterian Church next Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock, A. M., by Presbyterial appointment.

Closed.

The protracted meeting at the Baptist Church in this city closed last week. The number of conversions have been placed at 34—22 of whom have already been received for baptism.

A Notary Public.

Governor Holt has appointed H. McD. Robinson, Esq., of this city, a Notary Public, who has duly qualified according to law, and is now ready for the discharge of duties in that capacity.

Revival in Campbellton.

A very interesting revival meeting is being conducted at the Methodist Church in Campbellton, under the auspices of the pastor, Rev. E. C. Sell. A number of professions have been made, with the attendance very large and the interest unabated at every meeting.

Anniversary Exercises.

The 36th anniversary exercises of the Richmond Temperance and Literary Society will be celebrated at Spring Hill, Richmond County, N. C., on Saturday, the 26th inst. Annual address by Rev. J. W. Johnston, of Southern Pines. Thanks for an invitation to attend.

Rev. Jno. M. Rose.

For the benefit of many anxiously inquiring friends, we will state that Rev. Jno. M. Rose, who has resigned the pastorate of his church at Greenville, S. C., to return to his native State, will succeed Dr. Morton as State Evangelist, Dr. Morton having accepted a similar position in Missouri.

Two Fine Sermons.

Rev. Dr. Miller, of Charlotte, preached two most admirable sermons in the Presbyterian church, this city, last Sunday; and, in our opinion, he deserves to rank among the first preachers of the land. In style, he is simple, persuasive and fascinating: at the same time eloquent and foreible.

Services at the Presbyterian Church this Week.

Rev. A. W. Wilson, D. D., of Abbeville, S. C., will preach in the Presbyterian Church here to-morrow (Friday) night, and on the following Sunday at 11 A. M. and 8 P. M. Dr. Wilson enjoys a most enviable reputation as a preacher, and comes highly recommended to our people by everybody.

A Welcome Visitor.

Capt. J. A. P. Conoly, of Lumber Bridge, a stalwart friend and believer in the OBSERVER, spent the day here last Saturday. The Captain was the veteran commander of Company "D," 2nd North Carolina Cavalry, and, we are told, led some famous charges at the head of Strange's old Company, and more than once saved the day to the Southern cause by his dash and bravery—for which he was more than once complimented by the officers of the day.

Important.

To the people of this community the maintenance and support of the Fayetteville Graded School is of the utmost importance, and it is equally binding and obligatory on the part of the children to meet with the Superintendent and teachers at the graded school building to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, for their assignment to the different grades.

The interiors of the buildings have been overhauled and white-washed, and the entire premises arranged in good condition, preparatory to the opening of the school, the outlook for the success of which, we are delighted to learn, is very good.

Mr. Fife at Clinton.

Gratifying intelligence has been received from Clinton, direct, that Mr. Fife's meetings at that place have been attended by no less than from one thousand to fifteen hundred people, most of whom manifest a deep interest in their spiritual welfare. Nine professions were noted in the third meeting held, with over one hundred standing up to be prayed for. Only a few remain away from the meetings because of the feeling heretofore entertained against the Evangelist because of his past life in that place.

By the way, Mr. Fife is corresponding with Dr. D. L. Moody, with a view to effecting an early agreement by which they will make a tour through Scotland.

THE CUMBERLAND FAIR

To Excel Anything in the Carolinas.

The Cumberland Fair is forging ahead, gathering volume and increasing in interest with each rising and setting of the sun. At a meeting of the executive committee here Tuesday the preliminaries were all arranged, and a most attractive and interesting programme was outlined for other new and attractive features to be added, which will place the Cumberland Fair ahead of anything in the State for special attractions, as well as in the amount of premiums offered. The dates are only about six weeks off, and all who have not should bestir themselves to have something on exhibition. Governor Thos. M. Holt will open the fair in a brief and appropriate address, and will be followed by Gov. B. R. Tilman, who will deliver the annual address. Thoroughbred stock from North and South Carolina will insure the best races ever known here.

Eternity Swift and Sure.

One of those remarkable catastrophes for which, for some mysterious reason in providence, the history of Fayetteville has been time and again made noteworthy, produced a shock of horror through the community, when it was learned that at some time on yesterday morning, probably about 4 o'clock, Jas. H. Harrington, of Moore county, had fallen from the window of a fourth-story room of the Hotel La Fayette to the pavement, a distance of 50 feet, the appearance of the body, when found by the night-clerk or the night-bartender, indicating that death had been instantaneous.

The facts—gathered by the most careful efforts of the reporter—are as follows: On Tuesday night, or Wednesday morning at about 2 o'clock, accompanied by Messrs. D. F. Wemyss and H. M. Depo, Mr. Harrington registered at the office of the Hotel LaFayette, asking for a room with two beds. The three were assigned to No. 35; and, after they had been shown upstairs by the waiter, there was no sound to indicate that all was not well until the night-clerk was started by the fall of a heavy body on the pavement in front of the hotel building.

Greatly alarmed, he aroused the head-clerk, Mr. Matthews, with the announcement that someone had committed suicide, and that his dead body was on the pavement outside. Accompanied by the night-clerk, Mr. Matthews made an investigation, and found the body to be that of Harrington, with life already extinct. Hastening up to room No. 35, he found Messrs. Wemyss and Depo asleep, whom he apprised of the misfortune.

The coroner was informed of the fact, and proceeded to empanel the following jury of inquest: E. L. Pemberton, A. J. Cook, J. C. Huske, Jr., J. P. Cook, Ronald McMillan, J. A. Steele. After an investigation the jury returned a verdict that deceased came to his death by accidental falling from the 4th story of the Hotel LaFayette building—both windows of room 35 being down, while deceased would have had to crawl 4 or 5 feet before reaching the edge of the hotel outer parapet.

His remains were properly prepared by Undertakers Sheetz, and were conveyed to Sanford, by yesterday's 10 o'clock freight over the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway, to the home of the unfortunate man. Mr. Harrington was very well-known here, having long been engaged in this market for years as a dealer in live-stock.

Faithful, Efficient and Painstaking.

With last Saturday closed a career of twenty years ceaseless toil for our esteemed friend and popular townsman, Mr. G. W. Lake, passenger and freight agent of the Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley Railway Company, in Fayetteville. When first he landed foot on Fayetteville terra firma it was in the capacity of express messenger, a position he filled with credit to himself and great acceptability to the Company by which he was employed. Faithful, efficient and painstaking in the discharge of his manifold duties, by dint of his own exertions and individual efforts his area of usefulness was enlarged, his qualifications duly recognized, and compensation given in the shape of one of the most important positions in the service of this great line of railway—reaching from the mountains to the sea-shore.

Special Meeting.

Col. W. S. Cook, Chairman of the board of County Commissioners, gives notice elsewhere of a special meeting of the board, to be held at the court-house next Saturday, 19th inst., at which time the board will, after conference and discussion of the matter, order an election "For Subscription" or "No Subscription" to the Fayetteville & Albemarle Railroad.

The Hanging to be Public.

The county commissioners of Moore, in session last week, made the following order with regard to the hanging of Bostick, the murderer of Mr. Currie:

Whereas, Ben Bostick has been duly convicted of the murder of Jerome C. Currie, and is sentenced to be hanged on the 30th day of September, 1891; now, therefore, for reasons deemed good and sufficient by this board, it is ordered that the execution of said Bostick by the sheriff of Moore county be public.

On the War Path.

Notice is given elsewhere of Sheriff Smith's appointments throughout the county for the collection of taxes this year. As "death and taxes" are about the only sure things of this world, Sheriff Smith has proven himself an expert in the collection of the latter, and you will save cost and trouble by coming forward and taking his receipt.

Grand Band Concert and Ball.

It has been years since the Williams Opera House has been the theatre of a more delightful and beautiful combination of music and the dance—or, rather, of successive acts thrilling with the melody of the best creations of art, and fraught with the grace of the rythmic figures of the german, the cotillion and the waltz—than attracted and held enthralled the large assemblage of the best people of Fayetteville in that handsome public hall on Thursday evening last.

At about 8:30 the Fayetteville Independent Light Infantry Cornet Band filed, in full numbers, up the broad stairway and took their places on the large, handsomely-adorned stage, and were greeted with cordial applause by an audience already large, but which for the next half hour continued rapidly increasing, until two or three blocks of chairs, with the tiers of benches in the rear and at the sides, were crowded with hundreds waiting in eager anticipation of the rendition of the opening piece.

Nor were these music-lovers disappointed. In no previous open-air concert in this city, and in no one of their splendid performances during the carnival of fun and festivity at Wilmington and the Beach, was the leader, Mr. Novitzky, so happy in his efforts to please, nor did the band as a whole achieve so signal a triumph.

The regret with which this house-ful of admirers heard the last strains of the close of the concert attested the hold which the band has taken upon the hearts of all classes in the community, and attested also, in our judgment, a determination that it shall not want for that substantial aid which will secure its permanency as an institution of the town hereafter.

THE GRAND BALL.

After the full band as a corps had retired, and those members who had been detailed to furnish music for the dance had taken their places, the grand march, ushering in the first imposing figure of the ball, took place; and, frequently as have been such scenes of loveliness and animation in the social gatherings of this city, our fair women with their charming guests formed an incomparable galaxy of beauty, while the young men, almost universally in full dress, were meet gallants for partners so bewitching. The toilettes were all tasteful, and many of them very elegant, and the participants in this second entertainment of the evening—which consisted not only of the german, but quadrilles, the Virginia reel, etc., the changing, graceful figures set to the exquisite time of perfect music—were as follows:

In making the initiatory tour of the room the couples were led by Miss Jennie Rose, with light blue satin, white overdress; flowers and gold ornaments—escorted by Mr. G. W. Wightman.

Mr. C. L. Campbell, with his accustomed suavity of manner and aptness of management, led the german with Miss Maggie Pemberton—black net and Roman sash.

Miss Emma Gill, Nashville, Tenn., black silk, point lace; flowers—with Mr. A. S. Wightman.

Miss Lizze Dell Sutton, light blue silk, silver trimmings—with Mr. John Thomson.

Miss Gracie Barker, red india silk; Marechal Neil roses—with Mr. I. P. Overbaugh.

At an interval in the dance, and near the close of the evening, a table, on which were set two jewel cases, was placed at the south side of the hall, and Mr. Geo. W. Wightman briefly explained the conditions of the contest for 1st and 2nd prizes.

This in itself was a very graceful figure, each couple in succession waltzing the length of the room, and approaching the table, where the young lady drew a number—resulting in Miss Patterson receiving the 1st prize, a richly-chased silver spoon on the bowl of which was mirrored the market-house; Miss Margaret Hinsdale drew the 2nd prize, the deuce of hearts—the handsome Vance souvenir.

We congratulate the management on the remarkable success of the ball—a graceful compliment to not only young lady visitors but to the band.

People and their Movements.

Maj. Jno. B. Broadfoot returned from Raleigh on Saturday.

Mr. Marshall Williams, of Spout Springs, made a flying visit to Fayetteville Monday.

Mr. W. F. Leak, of the large and well-known firm of Rose & Leak, returned from the Northern cities Saturday evening.

Our best wishes attend Mr. Archie McDuffie, who left Monday for New York City, whither he goes to enter Bellevue Medical College Hospital, for a course of study.

Prof. B. C. McIver, Superintendent of the Fayetteville Graded School, has returned to the city, and is busily engaged getting things in readiness for the opening of the fall session.

Mr. W. W. Fuller and wife, of Durham, spent a few days here this week, where they were warmly received by their numerous friends. Mr. Fuller is a native of Fayetteville, and to-day is regarded as one of the most promising young lawyers in the State.

Mrs. M. E. Dye left Monday for Baltimore to replenish her stock of fall and winter millinery.

Mrs. A. G. Brady and daughter, Mrs. W. H. Hawley, returned this week from Henderson, and Mrs. Hawley will leave for Nashville Friday.

Mr. R. M. Chandler, of Helena, Montana, is in the city, the guest of Prof. B. C. McIver.

Miss Georgia Borden, of Goldsboro, having made a pleasant visit to Miss Jennie Rose, of this city, returned home Monday.

Judge Bryan, of New Berne, is visiting Maj. Broadfoot, on Haymount.

Misses Carrie Fuller and Hettie Nowell, of Smithfield, who have been on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Morriss, of this city, returned home yesterday.

Return of the Tourists.

"Like the Arab, they have silently folded their tents"—though not "stolen away," but flitting homeward. The most of Fayetteville tourists—seekers of health and votaries of pleasure—are back at their homes, setting their long-disused households in order, and renewing their devotions to the sacred lares of home, never so dear as after long absence—be the world's pleasures what they may.

May the past season have been rich in fruition of its most glowing promises. May the "summer girl's" harvest of trophies have realized her dearest ambition; may the "summer youth's" impressible heart bear its scars bravely; may the business man have found surcease of weariness and care in his summer jaunt; may the mountain-air and seaside-bath have brought vigor to the limbs and the healthful red to the cheek of the child watched and tended so anxiously for many long months; above all, may the mother, all-provident matron of the household, have found—in the variety of travel, in the soothing rest of some fair spot where the mountain fastness sends out its gentle requiem of swaying bough and tremulous limb, or the long stretches of shingle and beach ever catch and repeat the sea's murmur and music—increased strength and a renewed spirit for the days that are to come.

The season of pleasure is ephemeral, and the period of recreation must be brief to those for whom life is a serious thing, given of God; but may it be long ere the pictures with which the Maker groups all the beauties and blends all the rich coloring of nature fade from the mind—pictures of the sublimity of mountain gorge and of the exquisite touches of still life of leafy dell and deep-lying valley and of far-stretched plain; of the solemn majesty of booming surf and "the restless, tossing sea's immensity:"—

With the bright waves in their play,
As they merrily dance in the smiles of the day,
Or decks each its crest with a star's tiny ray;
Where the storm-spirits vigils of dea h ever keep,
And the mermaid o'er victims unnumbered doth weep.

Blood Will Tell.

Of course it will—that is if it is good, healthy blood. It will glow in the cheek, and tell the story of perfect physical health. If it does not, if the complexion is devoid of color, the muscles weak and flaccid, something is wrong, and something ought to be done about it at once, for in such cases delays are dangerous. For torpid liver, "biliousness," and the thousand and one ills to which these conditions of the system lead, there is no remedy in the world equal to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Boils, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous sores, salt-rheum and all kindred diseases are cured by it.

A Silurian.

They built a fine church at his very door—
He wasn't in it;
They brought him a scheme for relieving the poor—
He wasn't in it.
Let them work for themselves as he had done.
They wouldn't ask help of any one
If they hadn't wasted each golden minute—
He wasn't in it.

So he passed the poor with a haughty tread—
He wasn't in it;
And he scorned the good with averted head—
He wasn't in it.
When men in the halls of virtue met,
He saw their goodness without regret;
Too high the mark for him to win it—
He wasn't in it.

A carriage crept down the street one day—
He was in it.
The funeral trappings made display—
He was in it.
St. Peter received him with book and bell:
"My friend, you have purchased a ticket to—well,
Your elevator goes down in a minute!"
He was in it.

The Blue and the Gray.

Upon my bosom softly lies
A knot of blue and gray.
You ask the why? Tears fill my eyes
As low to you I say:

I had two brothers once,
Warm-hearted, bold and gay;
They left my side—one wore the blue,
The other wore the gray.

One rode with Stonewall and his men
And joined his fate with Lee;
The other followed Sherman's march
Triumphant to the sea.

Both fought for what they deemed the right,
And died with sword in hand;
One sleeps beneath Virginia's hills,
And one in Georgia's sand.

The same sun shines upon their graves;
My love for both must stay;
And so upon my bosom lies
This knot of blue and gray.

THE COTTON CROP.

September Report of the Department of Agriculture.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The September report of the Department of Agriculture makes the reduction in the condition of cotton during the past month six points—from 88.9 to 82.7. August is the critical period in the growth of cotton and sixteen times in twenty years has deterioration been indicated by returns of September first. In the four exceptional years, August averages were relatively low and the decline had occurred during the previous months. The cause of the present reduction on the Atlantic coast has been an excess of rainfall, causing overgrowth of plant and diminishing the tendency to fruitage. From Alabama westward drought was the main factor of loss, assisted by the boll worm and caterpillar. The condition is lowest in Arkansas, Louisiana and Tennessee. In a few counties of Texas heavy rainfall in the morning followed by hot sunshine in the afternoon, caused serious shedding of forms.

The most serious complaints are of shedding fruit and leaves, rotting of bolls, sprouting of seed in bolls, rust and staining of open cotton except in a few localities, where cotton worms are unusually destructive. In the area affected by drought, rust and shedding, also occur sudden extremes of temperature. Cool nights, followed by hot days, have been productive of similar indications of deterioration. Any cause reducing the vitality and threatening decay produces these frequently indicated diseases and conditions.

The relative degree of loss from these causes is indicated by State averages and condition, which are as follows:

Virginia, 78—a loss of 3 points.
North Carolina, 79—a gain of 4 points.
South Carolina, 81—a loss of 2 points.
Georgia, 82—a loss of 4 points.
Florida, 88—a loss of 6 points.
Alabama, 83—a loss of 6 points.
Mississippi, 83—a loss of 10 points.
Louisiana, 85—a loss of 5 points.
Texas, 82—a loss of 10 points.
Arkansas, 86—a loss of 9 points.
Tennessee, 84—a gain of 2 points.

Cotton.

Rockdale Advocate.]

Farmers, look well to your interests in handling cotton this season. The enormous crop last year has left large quantities on hand of low grade, as a surplus and unsold, and if another large crop is produced this year, there will be no market for dirty and sandy cotton this fall. The bulk of the cotton carried over from last season is of low grade, and there is no demand now for cotton of that character. To add an additional amount of that kind of cotton to that already on hand without a demand for it, you can easily guess what kind of a price you can expect from it. It is therefore to the interest of every farmer to pick and save his cotton in as good condition as he possibly can. Do not mix good and bad cotton in the same bale. Your bale is always sold at the low grade price. To plate a bale of cotton—that is, to put good on top and bottom of the bale and bad in the middle—is a fraud and is so declared by our laws, and is sure to be detected. Don't take the chance of exposure that way; it is not honest. There is not one farmer in a thousand that would be guilty of such an offense, but they are not all angels, and we know such crookedness has been practiced. Let your cotton be well handled and "straight," and you will get the top price of the market.

Farm and Garden Notes

The good shucker breaks the cap-sheaf very thoroughly. The closer it fits to the shock the better it serves its purpose and the surer it will hold its place.

If the head of the cap-sheaf is placed toward the prevailing wind, or the quarter from which storms most frequently come, the chances of its being dislodged are much less.

The plough that "holds hard" is not properly set. When set level and true, and the traces properly adjusted, it does the best work, runs easiest for the team, and almost "holds itself."

Plants get more water directly from the sub-soil than from the clouds. Mulch the soil on top by cultivation and the water will run up. We are here to direct forces.

It does not pay to have the hogs glean the harvest field. Either the harvesting has been extravagantly done, or else the hogs will walk off more flesh than they will gain.

To enrich milk, foods rich in fats are required. There is a large supply of such food substances as corn-meal, which is the staple and most reliable of all; cotton seed meal, rice meal, brewer's grains, gluten meal, and others, which are to be bought in the market. These may be fed in quantities from six to twelve pounds a day, as a cow may be found to eat and digest it healthfully.

Randall Pope the retired druggist of Madison, Fla., says: P. P. P. is the best alterative and blood medicine on the market. He being a druggist and having sold all kinds of medicine, his unsolicited testimonial is of great importance to the sick and suffering.

Capt. J. D. Johnston.

To all whom it may concern:—I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular remedy for eruptions of the skin known as P. P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium). I suffered for several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face, and tried various remedies to remove it, none of which accomplished the object until this valuable preparation was resorted to. After taking three bottles, in accordance with directions, I am now entirely cured. J. D. JOHNSTON,
Of the firm of Johnston & Douglas,
Savannah, Ga.

Henry Winter, Superintendent of the Savannah Brewery, says: He has had Rheumatism of the heart for several years, often unable to walk, his pain was so intense; he had professors in Philadelphia, but received no relief until he came to Savannah and tried P. P. P. Two bottles made him a well man, and he renders thanks to P. P. P. For sale by all druggists

Mr. John N. Webb, Washington, D. C.:

I undertake to briefly teach any fairly intelligent person of either sex, who can read and write, and who, after instruction, will work industriously, how to earn Three Thousand Dollars a Year in their own localities, wherever they live. I will also furnish the situation or employment at which you can earn that amount. No money for me unless successful as above. Easily and quickly learned.
